WILSON NAMED PRESIDENT OF NEW “CRITICOM MONITORING SERVICES”

LONGWOOD, Fla. – June 1, 2007 – Tony Wilson has been named president of the recently combined wholesale monitoring operations of CMS and Criticom International, which will soon operate under a new name, Criticom Monitoring Services™ (also to be known as CMS).

In a transaction announced by their parent companies on April 2, 2007, Criticom International, the nation’s No. 1 provider of wholesale monitoring, and CMS, also one of the largest wholesale alarm monitoring providers in the country, are merging operations to become the undisputed leader in their industry, with locations that span the United States.

“Combining the operations and geographical footprint of our companies broadens the reach of both entities for serving even more dealers and their growing businesses,” Wilson said. “In addition, the combined company will have an unmatched network of monitoring centers, which will ultimately be connected and provide important redundancies for subscribers. As a larger player in the market, we believe Criticom Monitoring Services has a tremendous opportunity to set new standards in the industry, to continue investing in enhancements to its infrastructure, and to create new programs and alliances that benefit all of its independent dealers. I am very pleased to be named president and to help bring these two incredibly experienced and dedicated teams together to offer a larger platform and enhanced services to our dealers.”

Wilson most recently served as president of CMS, which is located in Longwood, Florida, where the headquarters for the combined company also will be based. He has more than 22 years experience in the wholesale monitoring business, holding various positions in monitoring center management and being named president of CMS in 1991.

CMS and Criticom International compose the largest wholesale monitoring company in the United States. Our well known brands of companies include King Central®, Monital®, NACC®, and Securion®. Visit www.cmsn.com for more information.
